

Week 2

Our first week of working on Curaçao went well. I am working with children at a preschool called Margarita and one day of the week, I work in an animal shelter.

The kids are so cute and small, I love to work with them. Even if you must find your place at work and in a routine day schedule, it is fun to experience it. At the dog shelter, I was allowed to clean the cages of the cats and I mean, what do you expect of working in an animal shelter? I had to clean the cat toilets but in the end, I played with the little kittens, it was so cute, and they needed lots of love.

During the weekend I was sick, so we only went to a beach called "Kleine Knip" and the beach was so beautiful. It looks like a "typical Caribbean beach" and it is amazing to do snorkeling there. During the whole week, we used public transportation on the whole island, and we were impressed ... only once we had a problem :)

I am still hoping I turn healthy so that I can go to the kids ...
